Not illustrated. 1865 Excerpt: . little uneasiness has been created throughout tho Mission, by the publication of President Young s letter in reference to certain changes in the payment of Individual Emigration Deposits, and that several parties have in consequence, withdrawn from various Conferences the amounts lying there to their credit. Any matters mentioned in that communication were simply prospective, and related merely to the transfer of accounts from the Conferences to the Office in Liverpool, not alone for the sake of greater security but also for convenience and despatch, and not to the withdrawal of such accounts. Although tho way for Emigration has lately seemed partially closed up, we have no hesitation in saying, that it will open up again, sooner perhaps than may at present be anticipated, and we would therefore urge upon the Saints the necessity of preparing for that time. If they withdraw the money that should be appropriated to that purpose, and squander it away, they will be compelled to remain here, when an opportunity again presents itself, for their deliverance, ft is the duty of every Saint, as far as lies in his power, to make provision for gathering to Zion, and, although in ono sense, the withdrawal of deposits does not aft ect us in the slightest, still we are anxious to see every legitimate means used by them, to gain their emancipation, and when we find them removing their monies under a mistaken idea, would wish to show them that such a...
