Not illustrated. 1824 Excerpt: . . . had been bishop there he could never find in the said CHAP. principality. x. Richard Davies, bishop of St. Davids, dying in theAuno ss2. month of October, the last year past, an account was takenf0TM of the revenues of that bishopric, by order, as it seems, of shopric of the lord treasurer, and sent up this year to him by some officer or steward of that diocese. Whereby it may appear, how much wrong that bishopric received, and was diminished in its revenues, by means of a commission of concealment, granted to one Carey, a groom of the queens privy chamber, his rigorous proceedings by virtue thereof; and how impoverished it was now at that bishops death: being reduced froni four hundred and fifty-seven pounds, odd money, de claro, (as it was given in 27 Henry VIII.) unto two hundred and sixty-three pounds. This record, transcribed from the original, is preserved in the Appendix. N. XXii. And hereby may be gathered also how much the revenues of the church in this reign suffered by these commissions of concealments, granted now and then: and what a little gainer the crown was by them. CHAP. XI. 122 Puritans. An inscription about the queens arms in a church in Bury; abusive of the queen. Wright, chaplain to the lord Rich. His troubles. Informations concerning him. And his answers.
